

2013 PARTICIPANTS

HOME

SPONSORS

BECOME A SPONSOR

PARTICIPANTS

STAFF & NETWORK

HOTEL & TRAVEL INFO

AGENDA

MULTIMEDIA

BLOG

PREVIOUS DIALOGUES

CONTACT

A | B | C-D | E-F | G | H | I-J | K-L | M-N | O-P | Q-S | T-V

Walid Al-Saqaf

Walid Al-Saqaf is a Yemeni journalist, software developer is the director of the Global Journalism master programme censorship and works on Internet projects to empower act projects was Alkasir for Internet Censorship Mapping and countries including Syria and Iran to access blocked webs well as a member of the advisory group for the Arab Intern the Cyber Stewards Network.

Nima Akbarpour

Nima Akbarpour is a BBC Farsi television producer and pr host of Your Turn which both air on BBC Farsi. Akbarpour

Follow @cyberdialogue

PRESENTED BY:

Dmitri Alperovitch

Dmitri Alperovitch is the Co-Founder and CTO of CrowdSt Engineering teams. A renowned computer security resear policies and state tradecraft. Prior to foundinq CrowdStrike

Search Website:

Research at McAfee, where he led company's global Inter 2011, Alperovitch led the global team that investigated and Dragon and Shady RAT groundbreaking cyberespionage incidents. Alperovitch holds a master's degree in Information Science, both from Georgia Institute of Technology.

Amelia Andersdotter

Amelia Andersdotter is a Member of the European Parliament with industrial policy in the parliamentary committee of Industry, member of the committees for international trade, INTA, and the European Parliament Free Software User Group (EPF). She represents the Andean community and Korean peninsula.

Andrew Anderson

Andrew Anderson has been the Deputy Director of Front Line responsible for managing the growth and development of research and on policies and programs that respond effectively to rights defenders at risk. Previously he worked for 13 years at Amnesty International where he was Director of the Campaigning and Advocacy of the Africa Program. He holds an MA (Hons) in Politics from the University of Edinburgh and a Postgraduate Diploma in Voluntary Sector Management from Business School (London).

Collin Anderson

Collin Anderson is an independent researcher with a passion for the conflict between governments and the public over the free broadcast media.

Ang Peng Hwa

Professor Ang Peng Hwa is Director of the Singapore International School of Communication and Information, Nanyang Technological University, author of Ordering Chaos: Regulating the Internet (Thomson). He believes that the Internet should be regulated. He was a member of the Singapore Bar by training, he worked as a journalist before going into management at the University of Southern California and the University of California, Berkeley. His teaching and research interests combine law and policy, censorship, and the social impact of media. He has worked at several Oxford universities.

Denise Avila

Renata Avila

Renata Avila is a Guatemalan lawyer working in human rights, expression, privacy, digital rights, access to knowledge and open source. She is the Country Lead of Creative Commons Guatemala and also a member of the Open Source Initiative. She is a board member of the Science Council for Digital Rights and Global Voices on Line, Global Voices Advocacy, the Open Source Initiative. She actively promotes the involvement of girls and women in technology and digital rights of societies through access to knowledge, the sharing of information and digital rights. She is also a member of the Cyber Stewards Network.

Stewart Baker

Stewart Baker is a partner in the law firm of Steptoe and Johnson. He is the author of Why We Aren't Stopping Tomorrow's Terrorism, a book on terrorism and the use of data in preventing terrorism. From 2005 to 2009, he was the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Policy at the Department of Homeland Security. From 1999 to 2005, he was a Senior Policy Advisor at the National Security Agency. In both agencies, he has substantial experience in policymaking. Baker is a distinguished Fellow of the Center for Strategic and International Studies. He covers national security, electronic surveillance, law enforcement and technology issues.

Markus Beckedahl

Markus Beckedahl is a blogger at netzpolitik.org, one of the founders of the organization. He co-founded the Digitale Gesellschaft e.V., an organization that promotes digital rights and open source. He is also a public project lead for Germany. He co-founded the organization about blogs, social media and the digital society and works on specialized open source strategies.

Hamed Behravan

Hamed Behravan is Director of Iran Programming for Democracy Voice of America. He has a decade of experience in social media and digital rights on Iran. Hamed has personally field tested many low and high cost digital rights tools and has played a key role in developing the first ever Persian language communication between citizen reporters in Iran and America. He has distributed multiple manuals on Internet freedom and ways to bypass internet censorship.

Richard Bejtlich

Richard Bejtlich is Chief Security Officer at MANDIANT. He was previously Chief Security Officer for General Electric, where he built and led the 40-member Critical Incident Response Team (CIRT). Prior to GE, he operated TaoSecurity LLC as an independent security interests for ManTech Corporation's Computer Forensics. He investigated intrusions as part of Foundstone's incident response team at Ball Corporation. Bejtlich began his digital security career at the Air Force Computer Emergency Response Team (AFCERT).

(AFIWC), and Air Intelligence Agency (AIA). Bejtlich is a graduate of the United States Air Force Academy. He wrote The Tao of Network Security and co-authored Real Digital Forensics. His next book is F

Jochai Ben-Avie

At Access, Jochai Ben-Avie he heads up the policy team, surrounding Internet censorship and surveillance, telecom privacy, and Internet governance. Prior to Access, he researched public education, and the relationship between stress and health. He graduated from Bard College at Simon's Rock with a BA in Political Science.

Irina Borogan

Irina Borogan is an investigative journalist and a deputy editor in her career in 1996 as a reporter. In 1999, she covered the NAU and was a founder of the project Agentura.Ru. In 2002-2005 she reported on the domestic security agency of the Russian Federation, FSB, and the influence of the special services in the Russian government. She has written about Lebanon and tensions in West Bank and Gaza Strip for National Geographic series of articles investigating the Kremlin's campaign to gain control of government's police services under pretext of fighting extremism. She has also written for Ezhednevny Journal and on Agentura.Ru.

Dennis Broeders

Dennis Broeders is a senior research fellow and project coordinator at the Center for Government Policy (WRR), an independent strategic think tank. He is also a research fellow at the department of Sociology of the Erasmus University. As a research fellow and project leader he has worked on various projects on 'information government' (iGovernment, 2011, Amsterdam). He also works on the theme of surveillance and (internal) migration and cyber security. He has held visiting research fellowships at the WZB in 2008 and at the University of Oxford in 2011.

Jeff Brueggeman

Jeff Brueggeman is the Vice President-Public Policy and Intellectual Property at AT&T. In this role, he is responsible for developing and coordinating AT&T's public policy, cybersecurity and Internet issues. Brueggeman leads the AT&T's efforts to provide guidance on data privacy and security issues. He has been instrumental in the operation of its global Internet network and deployment of its services. He participates in a wide range of legislative, regulatory and public policy work on privacy, cybersecurity and Internet issues. In addition, he has consulted with government and organizations related to Internet governance, including the ICANN, IETF, and others. Prior to joining AT&T, Brueggeman worked as a telecomm

Ryan Budish

Ryan Budish is a Fellow at the Berkman Center and the P crowdsourcing to present a real-time view of Internet acce the ways in which technology and its intersection with the everyday lives of people. His recent publications include: “Cybersecurity, Data Protection Law & Policy” (June 2009) Recognition and the Limits of Privacy Law (Note)”, 120 Har “Developments in the Law of Voting and Democracy, Part Review 1176 (2006). Ryan received his J.D. cum laude fr editor of the Harvard Law Review. He received his B.A. wi

Marilyn Cade

Marilyn Cade works at the nexus of Internet, information a global public policy in relation to the Internet’s changing ro economic growth and development. Cade advises busines the ITU, OECD, APEC, WIPO and ICANN, and the Interne the ITU Secretary General’s High Level Expert Group on C G20 ICT Policy Network, an initiative focused on working v Cade participated in the two phases of the World Summit engaged today in post WSIS activities on Internet Govern: concept and actualization of true multistakeholder particip: governance.

Michael Carbone

Michael Carbone is Manager of Tech Policy and Programs and policy by managing projects that support the developr aid civil society organizations in staying digitally secure, an online. Prior to Access, Michael explored the policy, intern emerging information and communication technologies at intersection of journalism and technology at a number of n International Reporting Project. Michael received his bach Mathematics and East Asian Languages & Civilizations, s Zhejiang University, and the Johns Hopkins University-Na American Studies, and completed his master’s degree at . Advanced International Studies in China Studies, Internati

Scott Carpenter

Scott Carpenter is the Deputy Director at Google Ideas (N attempts to find innovative ways to approach today’s great his life to promoting democracy and human rights. After gr School of Advanced International Studies with a master’s studies, he worked to promote democracy abroad with the deputy assistant secretary of state for the Bureau of Dem on to join the Washington Institute for Near East Policy, a peace, prosperity, and democracy” in the Middle East. As Washington Institute’s Project Fikra, a program designed t authoritarianism and religious extremism.

Lieutenant Colonel Francis Costantino

Lieutenant-Colonel Francis Castonguay

Lieutenant-Colonel Francis Castonguay is a graduate of the University of Ottawa (May 1987) with a Bachelor of Sciences (Computer). He is a Project Management Professional (PMP®) in good standing since December 2004. He graduated from the Canadian Defence Studies programme in June, 2009. His military career has involved work in various technology disciplines including: Electronic Warfare, telecommunications, project management, network operations, experimentation, and concept development. He is currently a member of the Canadian Forces Cyber Task Force.

Alberto J. Cerda

Alberto J. Cerda Silva is director of DerechosDigitales, a Center for the promotion and defending human rights on digital environment. He is also a member of the Center of Studies on Law and Information at the University of Chile. He was a Fulbright Commission scholar pursuing a doctoral degree in Law, with a dissertation on human rights and Internet regulation in Latin America. He is a member of the Stewards Network.

Tenzin Choedon

Tenzin Choedon is the Outreach Coordinator at the Tibet House USA. She works with thought leaders, campaigners, and technology experts to help Tibetans win their nonviolent struggle for rights and freedom. She has lived and raised in India, Choedon has seen firsthand the impact of digital surveillance, censorship, and targeted malware attacks, against most Tibetans, her involvement in the Tibet movement started in 2008. She is on the executive of the Tibetan Youth Congress's Delhi chapter. She is also a member of Students for a Free Tibet India, first as Program Director and then as a member.

Kilnam Chon

Kilnam Chon contributed to the Internet's growth in Asia through various initiatives, research, and development. He developed the first Internet service in Korea. His pioneering work inspired many others to promote the Internet. He worked on networking systems, including the Internet, since the 1970s. He is the current chair of various regional Internet organizations such as the Asia Pacific Advanced Network (APAN), and Asia Pacific Internet Society. He was also the co-chair of the Coordination Committee of Intercontinental Internet. Professor Chon received a PhD degree in computer science from the University of Osaka in 1974, and a BS degree in engineering science from Osaka University in 1979 to work on computer systems at the Advanced Institute of Science and Technology in 1982 as a member of the Department.

Andrew Clement

Andrew Clement is a Professor in the Faculty of Information Systems at the University of Ottawa. He coordinates the Information Policy Research Program and the Information Security Initiative. With a PhD in Computer Science, he has published numerous papers on the social implications of information/communication technology.

Among his recent research projects related to identity, privacy, he is an investigator of three projects funded by the federal Office of Privacy and Information Protection: “Proportionate ID”, “Proportionate wallet”, and currently “IXmaps: Mapping Canadian privacy”.

David Cole

David Cole works with the Pearson Foundation where he is focused on development focused on educational leadership, 21st century career programs and the common core standards. Prior to joining Pearson PLC, the Foundation's parent company, leading programs in K-12 and Higher Education. He has held positions with Northern Illinois University, his professional life as an English and writing instructor. He has a BA in English, a MA in Education, and MAs in writing and literature.

Joshua Corman

Joshua Corman is the Director of Security Intelligence for a decade of experience with security and networking software. He was the Director for Security at The 451 Group following his time at Security Systems. Corman's cross-domain research highlights complex threat structures. His analysis cuts across sectors to the core security issues that helps to drive evolutionary strategies toward emerging technologies. He received his bachelor's degree in philosophy, graduating from the University of New Hampshire.

Andrew Cushman

Andrew Cushman is the Sr. Director of Strategy in the Trustworthy Computing Group. Cushman works with teams across Microsoft and the broader industry to drive economic and policy innovation in order to bring about a sustainable future. He managed the Microsoft Security Response Center (MSRC) for over a decade, leading the response to security threats, response policies, and monthly update programs to cover security researchers as well as mainstream users. He also led the international development of IIS 6.0 in Windows Server® 2003. Cushman received his M. A. from the M. Jackson School of International Studies at the University of Washington and a business degree from Seattle University.

Masashi Crete-Nishihata

Masashi Crete-Nishihata is the research manager of the Center for Cyber Security at the University of Toronto. He has published work on information security, cyber conflict, cyber security research ethics, cyber attacks against critical infrastructure, psychosocial impacts of lifelogging technologies. His research interests include information controls, and human computer interaction.

Nikos Dassenov

NIKOS Dacanay

Nikos Dacanay is currently doing a research project on Int migrant organizations in northern Thailand, sponsored by Previous to this, he did a research on the use of telecente on the Thai-Burma border, sponsored by the Amy Mahan book Txting Selves: Cellphones and Philippine Modernity done research work in the academe and for non-governm in these two fields has shaped both the nature of his rese as his interest in various and inter-connected subjects/topi notions of the self, identity, body, citizenship, geography, a Studies – Thailand focus – from the University of the Philip Human Rights Education Institute of Burma (HREIB). He i Network.

Rasta Daei

Rasta Daei is currently Iran Policy Advisor in the Middle E and International Trade Canada. He is responsible for ove Iranian-Canadian Diaspora, and is helping develop Canad incorporates digital tools and social media in diplomacy. F Secretary (political-military) at the Embassy of Canada, Kz time in Afghanistan was focused primarily on Afghanistan' Officer in charge of Zimbabwe, Zambia and Malawi and pr

Chris Davis

Chris Davis is likely best known for his discovery of the Ma of the Mariposa Working Group. Comprised of key industr this group took down the world's largest known botnet anc Spain to Slovenia. Mr. Davis has taken down more than 2l responsible for more than a dozen computer crime arrests Intelligence, Mr. Davis was the Director of Threat Analysis up. Prior to Damballa, he was the lead technical resource has consulted and advised dozens of government agencie Davis was the recipient of the Microsoft Digital Crimes Uni

Jochem de Groot

Jochem de Groot has worked on the Netherlands governn globally since 2009. He initiated and coordinated the found Coalition in The Hague in December 2011, and advised th Online event in Nairobi in 2012. He represents the Dutch g multilateral fora, and oversees a project portfolio for prom the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, he worked as political advis as an assistant and policy advisor in the Dutch parliament Aartsen and Mark Rutte, the country's current prime minis Islam Studies from the Universities of Utrecht and Amster sciences from University College Utrecht.

Arjen de Wolff

Arien de Wolff joined Radio Zamaneh as executive directc

European politics and international assistance in the fields of media development. In the past fifteen years, he has worked in Latin America, Eastern-Europe, the Caucasus, Morocco, Turkey and provided programs and providing leadership to various government

Ron Deibert

Ron Deibert, (OOnt, PhD, University of British Columbia) is a senior advisor at the Canada Centre for Global Security Studies and the Citizen Lab at the University of Toronto. The Citizen Lab is an interdisciplinary research lab at the intersection of the Internet, global security, and human rights. He is an investigator of the OpenNet Initiative and Information Warfare Watch. He is one of the founders and (former) VP of global policy and operations at the Citizen Lab.

Kristen Dennesen

Kristen Dennesen is the manager of the iDefense Emergency Response Team, where she works with security engineers with intelligence analysts to provide client support and analysis, including strategic indications and warnings reports and impact assessments on potentially disruptive events. Prior to 2008, she was a Fulbright Scholar in Medellin, Colombia, where she studied for her undergraduate lab in research methods and academic writing. She served previously as the manager of iDefense's International Security Program. She has a Bachelor of Arts in sociology from the University of Chicago.

Heather Dryden

Heather Dryden currently serves as Senior Policy Advisor and Coordination Director at the Canadian Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade in Ottawa. Dryden has worked for the Department since 2003. She has been involved in governance and Domain Name System (DNS) policy matters. She develops Canadian government positions and policy, and has served as a member of the Government Advisory Committee (GAC) of the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN). She has responsibilities within the United Nations system on International Telecommunication Union (ITU). Dryden has an education in International Strategic Studies, now specialising in Russian Studies.

Pauline Dugré

Pauline Dugré has worked for the Canadian Commission on Access to Information and Information Programme Officer. Her responsibilities include monitoring and promoting access to information and freedom of the press in Canada; networking and consulting on the social and ethical impacts of new technologies; as well as the promotion of ensuring access to information and knowledge. She manages the Access to Information Programme in Canada. In preparation for the two phases of the Access to Information Act, she organized consultations with a large number of Canadian stakeholders. Her career as a broadcast journalist working for private television in Canada (CBC) in Québec City.

Sue E. Eckert

The Honorable Sue E. Eckert is Senior Fellow at the Wats having served as Assistant Secretary of Export Administration research focuses on issues at the intersection of international sanctions, terrorism financing, cybersecurity, and critical infrastructure. She co-directs projects on United Nations sanctions and works with United Nations bodies to enhance economic instruments. She has coauthored a policy primer on Global Electronic Commerce.

Mahmood Enayat

Mahmood Enayat is the founder of Small Media, an organization providing information in Iran, through research, training and technology. He is also the founder of the BBC Media Action and the Iran Media Program of University of Cambridge. He holds a degree in Analysis, Design and the Implementation of Information Systems (2006) as well as a Bachelor of Science degree in Information Systems from King's College London (2005).

Golnaz Esfadiari

Golnaz Esfadiari is a senior correspondent with Radio Free Europe. She is the author of the award-winning "Persian Letters" blog that covers under-reported news, developments, and social media.

Liesyl Franz

Liesyl Franz is senior policy advisor in the Office of the Coordinator for Cyber Operations at the State Department. There, she joins the team coordinating international strategy for cyberspace issued by President Obama. She is also president for cybersecurity and global public policy at TechAmerica. She represents government leaders on such issues as cybersecurity, critical infrastructure, and Internet Governance. She represented TechAmerica in the Business Roundtable at the annual Internet Governance Forums, served on the steering committee for the Information Technology Sector Coordinating Council's Infrastructure Protection Plan (NIPP), where she served as vice chair of the International Committee. She holds a BA from the University of Texas at Austin and an MA from the Elliott School of International Affairs at George Washington University.

Eva Galperin

Eva Galperin is the Global Policy Analyst at the Electronic Frontier Foundation (EFF) in various capacities for the last five years, applying her technical background to organizing activism campaigns. She is also a frequent speaker at international conferences.

property, privacy, and security issues. Prior to working at E
Institute, where she helped to organize conferences and n

Annie Game

Annie Game is the Executive Director of IFEX, a global ne shared commitment to defend and promote freedom of ex
Canadian Journalists for Free Expression (CJFE), an orga
Canada and internationally.

Ramsey George

Ramsey George is a founding member of 7iber.com, wher around the Middle East to create spaces for critical conver new media can be a powerful media to bring people togeth Living in Amman, Jordan, he has a B.S. in rhetoric and co communication.

Laurent Giacobino

Laurent Giacobino has spent the past seven years design of technology by civic actors in closed societies, particular currently works as an independent consultant with differer organizations on programs focused on education and raisi security.

Phillipa Gill

Phillipa Gill is a postdoctoral fellow at the Citizen Lab, Mur
Toronto, and starting in the fall of 2013 will be an assistant
Her main research area is computer networks with a focus characterization. She uses network measurement, data ar security and reliability of networks. Through dialog with rel standardization bodies, government organizations, and ne world impact with research. She completed her Ph.D. at th
M.Sc. and B.Sc. in Computer Science from the University
a visiting researcher at AT&T Labs–Research, Boston Uni

Micha Glasser

Misha Glenny

Misha Glenny is the international bestselling author of Meltdown, The Underworld, The Rebirth of History, The Fall of Yugoslavia (Best Book on Foreign Affairs), and The Balkans: 1804-1918 (Woodrow Wilson Center in Washington, D.C., and a visiting fellow at the Center for Global Economics. He recently published a new book, DarkMarket.

Christopher Gore

Christopher Gore is Associate Professor, Politics and Public Administration at the University of Toronto. He holds a PhD and MA in Political Science and a BSc in Environmental Science from the University of Toronto, and a BSc in Environmental Science from the University of Waterloo. His research relating to the use of web-based tools for public administration is published in Africa and North America. He has conducted extensive research on the infrastructure and contested processes of policy and political development in Africa, and information and communications technologies in Africa focuses on the relationship between electricity and public interests intersect and conflict in their evolution and

Cath Goulding

Cath Goulding currently works as Head of Information Security at a company that runs the Internet Registry Service for .uk, of which she is responsible for ensuring the security of Nominet's infrastructure. She is responsible for ensuring the security of Nominet's infrastructure. Prior to joining Nominet, Goulding worked at the NSA for 10 years holding a variety of posts with 10 of those years in the areas of Intelligence analysis, Intrusion Detection research, Data Management, and Computer Interaction and is CISSP qualified.

John D. Gregory

John D. Gregory is General Counsel in the Policy and Administration Division of the Attorney General (Ontario). After clerking for the Chief Justice of Ontario from 1977 to 1980, he practised commercial law with Wright & McTaggart in Ontario and the provincial government. Gregory chaired the working group that produced the Uniform Electronic Evidence Act and the Uniform Electronic Commerce Act, which were widely adopted across the country. From 1997 to the present, he has been a member of the Canadian delegation to the United Nations Commission on International Law, which produced in that period the Model Law on Electronic Commerce, the Convention on the Use of Electronic Communications in International Trade, and the Convention on the Use of Electronic Communications in International Trade. He was also a member of the Canadian delegation to the UNCITRAL Working Group on

Robert Guerra

Robert Guerra is a senior advisor to The Citizen Lab and the Munk School of Global Affairs, University of Toronto. He has published on issues of Internet governance, cyber security, Internet freedom, and is a member of ICANN's Security and Stability Advisory Committee and the IGF Steering Committee. Additionally he has participated in

at two UN World Summits on the Information Society (WS

Lobsang Gyatso

Lobsang Gyatso Sither is a Tibetan born in exile dedicated inside Tibet and in the diaspora. He is a Field Coordinator develop community-specific technologies and educational public awareness campaigns at the grassroots level. He w in the Tibetan community, including Voice of Tibet Radio a Democracy. He is also a member of the Cyber Stewards N

Barbara Haig

Barbara Haig is deputy to the president for policy and stra A widely recognized expert in the field of democracy prom direction to the grant making effort of the NED and advise: institutional strategies that will further advance the goals o the spring of 1985 and, in her last position as vice preside the dramatic growth of the NED's grants program, which in development, monitoring, and evaluation capacities of NE decade, she oversaw a vast expansion of NED's program Afghanistan.

Sohier Hall

Sohier Hall is a technology and social enterprise entrepre action platform Luum, his work is in the service of people \ impacts in their communities and the world. Hall spent 10 Services Division overseeing global product & business in Advertising platform. The initiatives turned into global-scal Through his work, Sohier has been a long-standing advoc including user control, transparency and privacy by design

Johan Hallenborg

Johan Hallenborg holds a LL.M. degree with specialisation law from the Law Faculty at Lund University, Sweden, from employed in 2005 as Sida's Regional Adviser on Human F placed at the Swedish Embassy in Bangkok. He worked ir human rights issues to Swedish development programme: 2008, Hallenborg joined the Department of International L: Ministry for Foreign Affairs in Stockholm, where he current Rights Division. Since 2009, he has been extensively invo Internet freedom.

Shelly Han

Shelly Heald Han is the Policy Advisor for Economics, Environment and Security on the U.S. Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe (U.S. Commission) in 2006 after working as a special assistant to the Director of Customs Enforcement in the Department of Homeland Security and the Department of Commerce where she worked on international security and technology. Han has extensive experience in the private sector and over 15 years in trade policy and promotion with a focus on the Asia-Pacific region. She holds a Master's Degree in International Commerce and Policy from George Mason University and a Bachelor's Degree in Oriental Studies from the University of Arizona.

Seth Hardy

Seth Hardy is a Senior Security Analyst at the Citizen Lab in Toronto. Prior to the Citizen Lab, he worked for a large financial institution where he analyzed document-based malware and AV evasion methods. He has spoken at a number of security conferences including Black Hat and RSA. He holds degrees from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in Mathematics and Computer Science.

Del Harvey

As Senior Director of Trust and Safety at Twitter, Del Harvey has led the effort to ensure safety and security in the challenging realm of modern social media. She has over 10 years as the co-administrator and law enforcement liaison for social media platforms, working with agencies ranging from local police departments to the FBI.

Nick Haycock

Nick Haycock joined the Office of Cyber Security and Information Assurance in 2011. He has specific responsibilities in the area of international security and bilateral and multilateral cyber security relationships. He has been a speaker at the Conference on Cyberspace, and was an integral part of the UK's representation on the UN Group of Governmental Experts. He has also represented the UK on the OSCE and OECD. Prior to 2011, he was the UK's National Technical Authority for Information Assurance Policy at the UK's National Technical Authority for Information Assurance in Cheltenham, and has held a range of security related roles. He holds a Master's Degree from Cranfield University.

Peter Hellmonds

Peter Hellmonds is a senior international public affairs executive with extensive experience in information technologies for society. He cooperated with the G8's Digital Opportunities Task Force Initiative in 2001. He has also worked with the G8's Digital Opportunities Task Force Initiative in 2001.

2005, and championed business' role in the World Summit and Tunis 2005. Peter currently enjoys a sabbatical leave reposition himself for new challenges. He is an active conf Development, and the Information Society as Senior Advis Chapter of the International Chamber of Commerce, as a the German UNESCO Commission, as member of the Inte Computer Exchange, Inc., a non-profit committed to impro countries.

Andrew Hilts

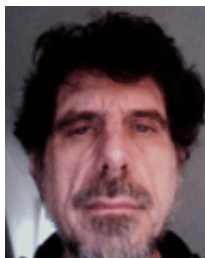

Andrew Hilts is Luum's Online Technology Policy Designe that aim to provide Luum members with an understandabl used, as well as other rights and responsibilities. He has a Canadian magazine and a research assistant at the Unive Master's of Information. Andrew has published work on de requirements engineering. He is interested in researching conscientious information disclosure, group decision maki

Rex Hughes

Rex B. Hughes is a visiting fellow for cyber security at Wo the Munk School of Global Affairs, University of Toronto. In the global political economy of the Internet, Dr. Hughes is fora including the NATO Parliamentary Assembly, Global E provides expert advice to North Atlantic business and gov as a Cambridge-MIT Institute research associate contribut British Telecom, Nortel, Nokia, and T-Mobile. From 2009-2 associate fellow in cyber security. From 1999-2003, whilst International Studies at the University of Washington (UW university based Internet studies programme, the Center f IBM and Lotus, Hughes led the development of iEnvoy™, platform for diplomats, successfully deployed in 21 APEC Department of State sponsorship.

Roger Hurwitz

Roger Hurwitz is a Senior Fellow at the Canada Centre for Global Affairs, Research Scientist at MIT CSAIL, a founde Relations, a program funded by the US Defense Departm principal organizer of the Cyber Norms workshop. His rese of international conflict and cooperation, automated contel development of cyber defense strategies. A PhD in compu and the Hebrew University (Jerusalem).

Mikko Hypponen

Mikko Hypponen is the Chief Research Officer of F-Secure computer security for over 20 years and has fought the big Loveletter, Conficker and Stuxnet. He's also a columnist fo His TED Talk on computer security has been seen by almo over 35 lanquages. Mr. Hypponen was selected among th the PC World magazine. Foreign Policy magazine include

He sits on the advisory board of ISF and the Lifeboat Four

Kenneth Irving

Kenneth Irving spent 27 years in the energy industry and i a reputation for innovative growth in building world-scale e seaboard. Irving's new ventures include Internet infrastruc organized groups. He is an advocate of building essential Personal Data Ecosystems through to benefit multi-stakeh action platform Luum, a proud sponsor of Cyber Dialogue,

Karl Kathuria

Karl is currently the VP of Commercial Management for P circumvention technologies on multiple platforms. He man and organisations who are looking to reach audiences in c filtered. Prior to this, he spent over 10 years at the BBC, m Internet content to a global audience. In this role, he facec countries where censorship is prevalent. Karl also led a pr studying the impact of the BBC's content distribution strate Wider Net.”

Dragana Kaurin

Dragana Kaurin is the program associate of the New Ame
She has worked in Information Management and Commur entering the Human Rights Studies program at Columbia v Crisis in Lebanon and Syria. Kaurin is an experienced cris Ushahidi, and managed a number of Ushahidi mapping de where she worked in refugee rights with organizations like Builders for Peace. She speaks French, Arabic, and Serbc
Columbia University, where she was a member of the Nev
B.A. in Cultural Anthropology and Arabic Language from C
Rights from Columbia University.

Emad Khazraee

Emad Khazraee is a doctoral candidate in Information Stu research covers area of new media in general and particu in new media use (specifically in Iran) and the relationship Recently, he has focused on studying social networking pl public spaces under repressive regimes. His latest researc public space in Iran formed around the platform of Facebc

Eric King

Eric King is head of research at Privacy International, where he leads an investigation of the international trade in surveillance technology at the intersection of human rights, privacy and technology. He is also a member of Reprieve, is on the advisory council of the Foundation for a Ph.D. degree in law from the London School of Economics.

Alexander Klimburg

Alexander Klimburg is a Fellow and Senior Adviser at the Institute for International Law and Human Rights. After joining the Institute in October 2006, Klimburg has acted as an adviser to various governments and international organizations on various issues related to Cyber Security, Internet Protection (CIP), and EU Common and Foreign Security Policy. He has participated in international and intergovernmental discussions, has acted as an adviser to OSCE, and has been a member of various European and international advisory bodies. He is the principle author of a 2011 European Parliament study on the Cyber Security Framework Manual. He regularly advises on international law and legislation.

Brenden Kuerbis

Brenden Kuerbis is a postdoctoral research consultant at the Institute for International Law and Human Rights from the School of Information Studies, and is a non-resident fellow at the Citizen Lab, Munk School of Global Affairs, University of Toronto. He focuses on the governance and security of Internet identifiers, including domain names and IP addresses. Kuerbis is a partner in the Internet Governance Project, a project that provides analysis of global Internet policy that is widely read by governments and scholars.

Farhaan Ladhani

Farhaan Ladhani has recently returned to the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade in Canada to head up a team responsible for implementing the Internet Governance Project. Ladhani comes to Foreign Affairs from the Canadian International Development Agency, where he was a Principal at Cloud to Street, a project to connect Egypt's rural areas and to better understand the intersection between cyberspace and the real world.

Frank LaRue

FRANK LaRUE

Frank LaRue is the UN Special Rapporteur on the Promotion and Protection of the Right to Freedom of Opinion and Expression, appointed by the UN Human Rights Council. He is the President of the Board of Directors of the DEMOS Institute, which promotes democratic values and provides support to the participatory democracy movement in Guatemala. He has a wide experience in human rights, development, education, Latin American analysis and political issues. He has served on the Inter-American Human Rights Commission and the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights. He has lobbied before the UN System on Human Rights. He was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for his work in the Genocide case in Guatemala.

David C. Lashway

David C. Lashway leads Baker & McKenzie's global cyber and digital risk practice. He focuses his practice in the areas of crisis management, cybersecurity, criminal, civil and administrative litigation, and has significant experience in various aspects of cybersecurity related matters. He is a speaker on the full lifecycle of enterprise risks associated with information technology, from before a network breach, as well as federal regulatory and compliance.

James Lawson

James Lawson has a Masters in General Linguistics from the University of Cambridge. He is the Director of Europe's Human Rights Information Centre, where he set up the case-law database and a range of other internal and public information services. He is the Director of the General of Human Rights and Rule of Law (DGI). He currently works for the Council of Europe. He is currently working on the establishment of "commitments" to give broader effect to Internet governance in Europe's member states.

Andrew Leslie

Andrew Leslie was the Deputy Commander of ISAF and CDR of the Maritime Task Force, for which he was awarded the Meritorious Service Cross and Merit. On his return to Canada he became Assistant Chief of Staff for General Strategic Planning at National Defence Headquarters. He was then appointed Chief of the Land Staff and Commander of the Land Force Command for four years and at the height of the most recent transformation, leading a multi-disciplinary team of military experts to produce the "Report on Transformation", which is a detailed and critical analysis of the transformation process. He has seen where resources should be in the Canadian Forces and became a Senior Vice President of the Canadian Forces. In 2013 he is a founding partner in InnovaNord, a strategic consulting firm in Ottawa.

James Andrew Lewis

James Andrew Lewis is a senior fellow and Program Director at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS). He focuses on cybersecurity and the international economy. Before joining CSIS, he was a senior advisor to the U.S. State Department.

Foreign Service Officer and the Department of Commerce Lewis worked on a range of issues involving international Rapporteur for the 2010 United Nations Group of Government a leading global experts on cybersecurity and his writings norms and warfare. He has authored numerous publications examines the political effect of the Internet, strategic computing from the University of Chicago.

Catherine Lotrionte

Professor Catherine Lotrionte is the Director of the Institute Visiting Assistant Professor of Government and Foreign Studies teaches courses on national security law, cybersecurity law 2006 she founded the CyberProject at Georgetown University an annual international cyber engagement conference at Georgetown government officials, private sector experts and academic Scowcroft to be Counsel to the President's Foreign Intelligence position she held until 2006. Prior to that, Lotrionte was Assistant General Counsel at the Central Intelligence Agency. She is Professor Lotrionte earned her PhD from Georgetown University

Rebecca MacKinnon

Rebecca MacKinnon is a Senior Fellow at the New America intersection of networked technologies, human rights, and Consent of the Networked: The Worldwide Struggle For Internet founder of Global Voices Online, and serves on the Board of Journalists and the Global Network Initiative. Fluent in Mandarin working for CNN in Beijing and was Beijing Bureau Chief and served as CNN's Tokyo Bureau Chief and Correspondent

Katherine Maher

Katherine Maher is the Director of Strategy and Engagement organization's strategic posture and oversee external engagement World Bank, National Democratic Institute, and UNICEF on development, and democratic development. Maher is a fellow and a member of their Cybersecurity and Middle East Expert The Atlantic, Foreign Policy, and the Guardian. She studied Damascus, and New York University.

John C. Mallery

John C. Mallery has been at The Artificial Intelligence Lab Science & Artificial Intelligence Laboratory at the Massachusetts concerned with cyber deterrence, cyber strategy and cyber Since 1999, he has explored advanced architectural concepts computing. Since 2006, he organized a series of national cyber defense. During the 1990s, he fielded early systems experiment during the 1992 presidential election, the White 2001. and the Vice President's Open Meeting in 1994. In the oriented Common Lisp Web Server, a series of adaptive s HTTP 1.1 server and URN resolver with location-independ firsts.

Morgan Marquis-Boire

Morgan Marquis-Boire is a Security Researcher and Tech
Global Affairs, University of Toronto. He works as a Securi Response, Forensics and Malware Analysis. Recently, he Foundation on issues surrounding dissident suppression i around the world and his work has been featured in nume Bloomberg Business Week, The Wall Street Journal, The
He received an honorable mention from SC Magazine as 2012. He was also one of the original organizers of the Ki

Tim Maurer

Tim Maurer focuses on Internet policy in international affai Technology Institute. He conducts research on Internet go security. Maurer is also an adjunct fellow with the Technol Strategic and International Studies where he worked was America. He assisted David Sanger with parts of his best-President Obama's national security cyber policy. He has Geneva, and New York and is a non-resident fellow at the Master in Public Policy from the Harvard Kennedy School, on international and global affairs. His award-winning thes
White House National Security Council. He received his B Berlin.

Sarah McKune

Sarah McKune is Senior Researcher at the Citizen Lab, M
Toronto. Her work includes comparative analysis of target organizations, as well as research and analysis regarding export of rights-implicating technologies. Sarah is a lawyer rights law.

Paul Meyer

Paul Meyer is Fellow in International Security and Adjunct Fraser University in Vancouver. He is also Senior Fellow o diplomat with Canada's Foreign Service, he has served as Disarmament in Geneva and as Director General of the Si cyber research interest is on the diplomacy of internationa cooperative security approaches to govern state conduct i

Stefania Milan

Stefania Milan is curious about radical internet activism, social media, and code. As a political sociologist of the web, she enjoys experimental and action-oriented research methods, and seeks ways of bridging the gap between studied Communication Sciences at the University of Padua and Applied Social Sciences from the European University Institute. She has worked for various media outlets and has been involved in media activism projects, including amongst others, the Italian Ministry of Education, University of Padua Commission. Currently, she is Assistant Professor of Data Science at the University of Amsterdam, Netherlands, and a post doctoral fellow at the Citizen Lab, University of Amsterdam, Amsterdam.

Ram Mohan

Ram Mohan is Executive Vice President, & Chief Technology Officer, responsible for strategic, management and technology choices for the core business. Mohan has led the strategic growth of the core business across new product sectors such as Managed DNS, Product TLDs, and IDNs. He serves on the Board of Directors of ICANN in a non-voting capacity. Mohan is also a founding member of the Security and Stability Advisory Committee, which consists of Internet pioneers and technical experts who provide advice concerning Internet security and stability.

Aleksander Mojsiejuk

Aleksander Mojsiejuk holds a Master's degree in political science from the University of Gothenburg in Sweden. Since 2011, Mojsiejuk is responsible for the ICT relation to ICT at the Swedish Ministry for Foreign Affairs and the Swedish Department for Security Policy.

Negar Mortazavi

Negar Mortazavi is a TV Host and Social Media Editor at VOA's show Straight Talk (Rooye Khat). Prior to VOA she worked for the United Nations headquarters in New York. She has a Master's degree from Brandeis University.

Bijan Moshaver

Bijan Moshaver is a medical Scientist at the University Medical Center in Groningen, an active member of the Green-Left party in the Netherlands. He became a member of the Resistance Council at Tehran University of Medical Sciences. Many of his friends were executed. Despite this, Moshaver is the president of the Iran Future Foundation for the last eight years, an organization dedicated to the democratization of Iran. He has been a member of Radio Free Europe since early 2008.

Jill Moss

Jill Moss is a Democracy Fellow with the United States Agency for International Development. She designs and implements Internet freedom programs in transit countries, focusing on the integration of ICTs in civil society and among independent media. She also provides digital security and privacy support to indigenous activists. As a Democracy Fellow, Jill was a member of the Broadcasting Board of Governors' Freedom Team — a critical program for distributing US international broadcasts (including Voice of America & OCB) into denied cyber environments. Moss is also a doctoral student in communication at George Mason University. Her research focuses on alternative business models for journalistic startups and mobile technology. She has worked as a radio news anchor and as an adjunct in the GMU Communication Studies program based on 12 years reporting experience with the Voice of America. She is currently working as a press secretary for her Nebraska Congressman.

Milton Mueller

Milton Mueller is Professor at Syracuse University School of Information Studies. He received the PhD from the University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School for Communication on rights, institutions and global governance in communication. He is currently doing research on IP addressing policy, the policy implications of IPv6, and the security governance practices of ISPs. Mueller was on the steering committee of Project ICANN, an alliance of scholars in action around global Internet governance. As a member of ICANN's Noncommercial Users Constituency, he has played a significant role in civil society in ICANN and OECD. He serves on the Executive Committee of the Internet Society Stakeholders Group and was elected to ARIN's Advisory Council.

Karen Mulberry

Karen Mulberry joined the Internet Society as a Policy Advisor in 2005. She has over 20 years of international public policy advocacy experience at the Internet Society, focusing on number portability, ENUM, threats to IP addressing, establishment of barriers to entry, criteria for determining misuse and new governance models, and control and privacy through partnership with industry, government and academia. In 2005, Karen Mulberry was a key member of the preparatory team advocacy positions such as IP addressing, Internet cyber : a member of the ITSCC International Committee that work cyber security and Internet policy and has worked with the OECD reports and other projects to represent company in government policy and positions are developed.

Jan Neutze

Jan Neutze joined Microsoft's Global Security Strategy and Strategist focusing on cybersecurity, Internet governance and corporate strategy for improving Internet governance region and other key stakeholders on the emerging global discussion. He came to Microsoft from the United Nations in New York, where he was the Secretary General and the Department of Political Affairs, focusing on the terrorist use of the Internet. Prior to his role at the United Nations, he was the Assistant Director for Transatlantic Relations at the Atlantic Council and a Senior Officer at the German Marshall Fund of the United States, focusing on policy issues. He holds a law degree from the University of Virginia and a Master of Studies from Georgetown University's School of Foreign S

Baroness Pauline Neville-Jones

Baroness Pauline Neville-Jones was a career member of the British Diplomatic Service during which time she served in British Missions in Rhodesia and the European Commission. From 1991 to 1994 she was First Secretary in the Cabinet Office and Deputy Secretary to the Cabinet Office. She was also a member of the Joint Intelligence Committee. From 1994, until her retirement in 2000, she was a Senior Adviser and Commonwealth Office, in which capacity she led the British team in the Bosnia peace settlement. As chairman of QinetiQ Group, she led the company to flotation as a FTSE 250 company in 2006. She

Gissou Nia

Gissou Nia is the Executive Director of the Iran Human Rights Foundation, a for-profit organization based in New Haven, USA dedicated to the rights of the Islamic Republic of Iran (IRI). In that capacity, she has interviewed and reported on human rights perpetrated by the IRI and produced and edited comprehensive reports. She has also advised governmental and regional bodies, policy makers and NGOs on the human rights situation in Iran and the larger region and religious minorities.

Helmi Noman

Helmi Noman is a Senior Researcher at the Citizen Lab, (University of Toronto) and a Research Affiliate of the Berkman Center, (MIT) focusing on research on Internet, media and telecommunications laws and policies in the Middle East and North Africa. Noman's research also focuses on the impact of communication technologies on the Arab information society. She has published on the Internet defies the social and political structures in the Arab world, in which cyberspace can bring to real space in the Arab world. She is also a member of the Arab World Network.

Elliot Noss

Elliot Noss is CEO of Tucows. Tucows challenged how so domain names were offered and managed in the 2000s and provided today. For nearly twenty years, Noss has loved a agent of positive change the world has ever seen. Through and his personal efforts, he has lobbied, agitated and edu Open Internet around the world.

Danny O'Brien

Danny O'Brien has worked as an activist for online free sp combating encryption prohibitions in his home country of t independent online media in repressive regimes in the 20' and its international activism coordinator from 2007-2009. online reporters with the Committee to Protect Journalists, global strategy. Danny's particular concerns are to protect technologies from imprisonment and harassment, and sup world. He is the co-founder of the Open Rights Group, Brit

Taylor Owen

Taylor Owen is the Research Director of the Tow Center for Journalism. He is the Founding Editor of the Canadian Int OpenCanada.org, the Director of the International Relation international research project exploring the intersection of and the Research Director of the Munk Debates. His Doct was a Trudeau Scholar.

Mary R. Page

Mary R. Page is Director of the Human Rights and Interna the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation. She officer in the Program on Peace and International Cooper; grantmaking in the areas of conventional arms policy, Mid; production and budgets. From 1998 – 2000 she was Asso Responsibilities area, working on public deliberation and ti affairs. Prior to joining the Foundation she was engaged ir assisted instruction programs at Stanford University, math Chicago, and English composition and early childhood edi publishers. where she was a Senior Editor. Page has dear of Chicago and serves on the boards of the Global Philant Affected Children in Northern Uganda.

Jon Penney

Jon Penney is a lawyer, Fellow at Harvard's Berkman Center student at the Oxford Internet Institute, University of Oxford regulatory chilling effects online. In 2011, he was a Google helped lead the OpenNet Initiative's new Transparency Project founded to encourage corporate transparency about government graduate of Dalhousie University, he previously studied at and at Oxford as a Mackenzie King Scholar, where he also Commonwealth Law Journal. His research concerns consumer & digital media policy & culture, particularly censorship, privacy

Fred Petrossians

Fred Petrossians is Online Editor in Chief of Radio Farda, site with 10 million page views in a month. He co-edited a movement based on citizen media (Hope, Votes and Bullets March 18 Movement to raise awareness about bloggers' rights the Iran editor of Global Voices, a project that started in Hong social media in the world. He has been an international speaker media and academic centers such as Yale University.

Jennie Phillips

Jennie Phillips is a PhD student at the Ontario Institute for of Global Affairs, University of Toronto. Her research involves specifically Volunteer Technical Communities (VTCs), in citizen awareness, training and innovation) to bridge digital volunteer Phillips also holds a Masters in Education Technology from years experience working in Emergency Management and

Alejandro Pisanty

Alejandro Pisanty is a professor at the National University and practice of Theoretical Chemistry, education, e-learning Internet-based innovation. He is active as a blogger and in media based campaigns like #InternetNecesario. He has served Working Group for Internet Governance, and in the Advisory and as co-founder of the Dynamic Coalition on Internet Cooperation

Irene Poetranto

Irene Poetranto is the Communications Officer at the Center Studies, Munk School of Global Affairs, University of Toronto in the Southeast Asian region, particularly Indonesia, the Philippines amongst others, the Human Security Report Project at Sir of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) Report

University of British Columbia's Centre for Southeast Asia Organizing Committee of the 2013 Internet Governance Forum. She has a BA in Political Science from the University of British Columbia and Asia Pacific Studies from the University of Toronto.

Monroe E. Price

Monroe E. Price is director of the University of Pennsylvania's Center for Global Communications Studies (CGCS) at the Annenberg School for Communication, where he works with regulators, scholars, and practitioners in Europe, Africa, and the United States. Price also founded the Programme in Communication Studies at Pennsylvania State University and remains a research fellow there. He chairs the Center for Global Communications Studies at Central European University, a project instituted in 2004. He was a member of the President's Task Force on Telecommunications Policy and Communications (both in the 1970s) and on the Carter-Saunders Task Force on Telecommunications Policy (in the 1990s).

Adam Pridgen

Adam Pridgen is currently pursuing his PhD in Computer Science at Rice University under the supervision of Dr. Dan Wallach. Adam completed his B.S. in Computer Science and Infantryman after which he went on to complete a B.S. in Electrical and Computer Engineering at the University of Texas. Prior to returning to Rice, Adam was helping build internal security testing standards and guidelines at various companies, which included code reviews, threat modeling, and penetration testing at Praetorian and prior to that, Foundstone. He has also taught a range of topics as a lecturer and instructor for topics such as reverse engineering.

Chris Prince

Chris Prince has been a Strategic Policy Analyst within the Office of the Privacy Commissioner of Canada since 2007. His files focus on security programs, governance of surveillance practices, and the interception of private communications. Before that, he worked at the Secretariat (working on parliamentary reporting) and Libra. Prior to this, he worked at Bombardier Aerospace (Montreal) and the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce (Halifax). He holds a Master's in Studies in 2001 and an undergraduate in Contemporary Studies from York College.

John Proctor

John Proctor is the Director of Cyber Resilience for CGI, the former Director of the practice and Cyber Security Centre of Excellence. Cyber Resilience Services, Consultant Enterprise Security Services, Enterprise Security Assessments and Penetration Tests, Cyber Forensics, Threat Intelligence, Privacy Impact Assessments. The team is based at CGI's Toronto office and serves CGI's business units and clients, in Canada and globally.

professional and managed security services to a large number of clients.

institutions, Federal, Provincial and Municipal government

Freya Putt

Freya Putt is the Program Director for the Tibet Action Institute. She focuses on the safe and secure use of new communications technologies, including deploying community-specific apps, digital security training, and awareness campaigns. Putt holds a master's degree in International Development Studies from the University of Toronto. Her work has included campaigning to change logging practices in the Pacific Northwest, raising the profile of the landmark Wiwa v. Shell case in Nigeria, and coordinating the global Tibet movement to demand the Chinese leadership through the Beijing 2008 Olympics. She has worked for the Tibetan freedom movement for 15 years.

Greg Rattray

Greg Rattray is the CEO and founding partner in Delta Risk Management, a consulting firm specializing in establishing strategies for cyber security and risk management for government and private sectors. During his 23 year Air Force career, he served on the National Security Council staff in the White House where he helped develop the National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace, initiated the first cyber security strategy involving government and the private sector, and coordinated international engagement on cyber security issues. Rattray served as the Director of the AF Information Warfare Center and served in other command positions. He was the Chief Security Advisor to ICANN establishing the resiliency of the domain name system. He was the driving force behind the International Studies Association and serves as the Association's President.

Mark Raymond

Mark Raymond joined CIGI as a Research Fellow in August 2011. He came from the University of Toronto and has taught international relations at the University of Waterloo. His research interests include international security, international organization, international security and global governance in the area of Internet governance.

Thomas Rid

Thomas Rid is a Reader in War Studies at King's College London. He has worked at a number of leading think tanks and research institutes including the Woodrow Wilson Center, SAIS, the RAND Corporation, the Institut des Hautes Etudes Internationales, Stiftung Wissenschaft und Politik, and the Center for Strategic Studies. He has written several books and numerous articles on political violence. His fourth book, The Dark Web, was published in April.

Harvey Rishikof

Harvey Rishikof currently has a joint appointment at Drexel University and is the chair of the Advisory Board for the ABA Standing Committee on Law and Public Policy. He is also a member of the Board of Visitors for the National Intelligence University and the Harvard National Security Law Journal. His last position was as Senior Counsel and Advisor to the Director of National Counterintelligence Executive. He is also a member of the American Bar Association Standing Committee on Law and Public Policy, the American Law Institute and the Council on Foreign Relations. He has served as a law clerk to the Third Circuit for the Honorable Leonard I. Garth, a Social Security Administration lawyer, and as a law clerk to Justice Hale and Dorr, Administrative Assistant to the Chief Justice, and as a deputy director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and

David Satola

David Satola is Lead Counsel in the World Bank Legal Department. He is responsible for the legal aspects of ICT reforms. His work focuses on the enabling environment for digital services, Internet governance, competition regulation, cyberspace, and digital trade. The World Bank spans more than 85 countries. He was seconded to the World Bank as a Senior Counsel on Governance and acts as the Bank's Observer to ICANN's Governance Board, the UN's Internet Governance Forum secretariat as well as the World Trade Organization. He is the Chair of the Internet Governance Task Force from The Johns Hopkins University, his JD from the University of Michigan, and his MA from The Johns Hopkins University, his JD from the University of Michigan, and his MA from the London School of Economics and the Hague Academy of International Law.

Marietje Schaake

Marietje Schaake is a Member of the European Parliament for the Alliance of Liberals and Democrats for Europe (ALDE) in the Committee on Foreign Affairs, where she focuses on neighbourhood policy and digital rights. Her specific focus on freedom of expression, Internet freedom, and digital rights. In the areas of Culture, Media, Education, Youth and Sports she works on digital culture and new media in the EU's external actions. In the areas of intellectual property rights, the free flow of information and digital rights. She is also a founder of the European Parliament's Digital Rights Centre.

John Scott-Railton

John Scott-Railton is conducting research in collaboration with the Center for Global Communications and the Center for Cyber Policy at MIT. He is also a member of the Center for Global Communications and the Center for Cyber Policy at MIT. He is also a member of the Center for Global Communications and the Center for Cyber Policy at MIT. He is also a member of the Center for Global Communications and the Center for Cyber Policy at MIT.

He is also completing a PhD at UCLA, where his dissertation is on the impact of Pro-Government Electronic Actors (PGEAs) during the conflict in Libya. In addition, he has worked to support the free and secure flow of information and is currently developing the highly collaborative citizen-journalist Voice of the People.

implications of climate change adaptation failures, focusin

Eric Sears

Eric Sears is Program Officer for Human Rights and Intern
His grantmaking spans several areas aimed at defending justice, including efforts to advance an open internet. Prior worked for Human Rights First in New York and Amnesty degrees from the London School of Economics and St. Lo

Adam Segal

Adam Segal is the Maurice R. Greenberg Senior Fellow fo Relations (CFR). An expert on security issues, technology foreign policy, Segal currently leads the Cyberconflict and Advantage: How American Innovation Can Overcome the the technological rise of Asia. Segal has a BA and PhD in in international relations from the Fletcher School of Law &

Adam Senft

Adam Senft is a Research Officer at the Citizen Lab at the Toronto, where he focuses on online freedom of expressio BA in Political Science from the University of Toronto and

'Gbenga Sesan

'Gbenga Sesan is the Executive Director of Paradigm Initi
Electronic & Electrical Engineer at Obafemi Awolowo Univ programs at Lagos Business School, New York Group for Harvard University, Stanford University, Santa Clara Unive consulting experience includes assignments completed fo
Harvard University and United Nations agencies, among c
United Nations Committee of eLeaders on Youth and ICT, Archbishop Desmond Tutu Leadership Fellow, Ashoka Fe Fellow.

John P. Shelden

JOHN B. SHELDON

John B. Sheldon is a Senior Fellow in Security Studies at the Center for Strategic and International Studies. John previously taught cyber and space strategy at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. He has also taught at the U.S. Air Force Academy, Maxwell AFB, Alabama. As well as his scholarly work, he has written and lectured on cyber and space issues. Previously he served in the British diplomatic corps and worked for several international think-tanks. Sheldon is the author of numerous articles, chapters, and books on cyber and space issues around the world, and was the founding co-editor of the peer-reviewed journal Cyber and Space.

Tyler Simpson

Tyler Simpson is a hands-on senior leader with 15 years of experience in software development, delivering large scale commercial software products, public and private systems. Simpson is a cofounder of the civic action platform Code for America and has worked at Microsoft in various developer, architect, and engineering roles.

Briar Smith

Briar Smith is a Research Project Manager at CGCS. While working at the Center for Global Communication, she worked closely on a number of CGCS projects, including the Penn-in-Beijing summer school and authoring a chapter in Olympics: Narratives of the New China. Her research interests include international communications with particular focus on China and the Middle East in contemporary Islamic contexts. Prior to joining CGCS full time, she worked for a market research firm in Philadelphia. Smith has a Master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania and a BA in Chinese Language and Literature from the University of Pennsylvania College.

Gordon Smith

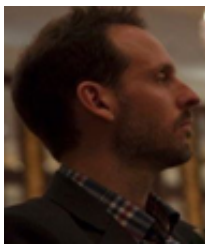

Gordon Smith is a former Canadian deputy cabinet minister and a leading expert on the evolution of the G20 and global governance. A distinguished fellow, he has been a key contributor to CIGS publications. In 1979, Smith became the deputy under-secretary of state for international affairs and deputy minister. Shortly thereafter, he was dispatched to Europe as ambassador to the Canadian delegation to NATO, and subsequently as ambassador to the European Union. Returning to Canada in 1994, Smith joined the Department of Foreign Affairs. During this time, he began his personal involvement with the prime minister (as a special representative) for the prime minister at the G7/G8 summit in 1998. From the Government of Canada that same year, Smith joined the Centre for Global Studies (CFGS), and was the director of the International Development Research Centre.

Matthew Smith

Matthew Smith is a program officer at the International Development and Networks program. He oversees research on how information technologies are shaping open, inclusive and rights based information societies in the developing world.

completed postgraduate research on the interaction between the impact of e-government systems on citizens' trust in the government in Latin America for the World Bank and the I published on this subject and others, including the role of

Christopher Soghoian

Christopher Soghoian is a privacy researcher and activist, and policy. He is a Principal Technologist and Senior Polic in Washington, D.C. He is also a Visiting Fellow at Yale La Soghoian completed his Ph.D. at Indiana University in 201 service providers play in facilitating law enforcement surve data, he has made extensive use of the Freedom of Inform se, and used several other investigative research methods including the Berkeley Technology Law Journal and been Circuit Court of Appeals. Between 2009-2010, he was the Trade Commission's Division of Privacy and Identity Prote Facebook, Twitter, MySpace and Netflix. Prior to joining th anti-tracking mechanism now adopted by all of the major v

Andrei Soldatov

Andrei Soldatov is an investigative journalist and an editor intelligence agencies. In 1996 he began his career as a re several colleagues the Agentura.Ru project. He covered th hostage crisis in Beslan. Soldatov regularly makes comme Vedomosti, Radio Free Europe and the BBC. In April 2008 Global Security and Intelligence: National Approaches wh secret services. In September 2010 Andrei Soldatov and I Nobility: The Restoration of Russia's Security State and th 2010).

Barry Sookman

Barry Sookman is a Senior Partner at McCarthy Tétrault, i Former leader of the firm's Intellectual Property Group, an Osgoode Law School. Sookman is recognized as one of C technology, Internet and copyright law, he has argued nun of courts including the Supreme Court of Canada. Sookm: the leading six-volume treatise Computer, Internet and Ele International Casebook, Copyright: Cases and Commenta Computer, Internet and E-Commerce Terms: Judicial, Leg consistently identified by numerous publications as one of intellectual property lawyers. Adjunct Professor of Intellect

David Sullivan

David Sullivan is Policy and Communications Director at tl Washington, DC, Sullivan helps lead GNI's policy engager learning opportunities for its members. and manages the I activities. Prior to GNI, he was Research Director at the EIP Progress, where he oversaw field research and policy analysis. He has a master's degree from the Johns Hopkins University and a bachelor's degree from Amherst College.

Lhadon Tethong

Lhadon Tethong is the Director of the Tibet Action Institute. She is a human rights advocate in developing and advancing open nonviolent strategies and innovative training programs for Tibetans. Current priorities include working with the Tibetan community, developing and deploying community training, and implementing broad-based public education campaigns. She is a prominent spokesperson in the Tibet movement, having worked for the Free Tibet where she worked from 1999-2009. She received the Nonviolent Achievement Award from the International Center on Nonviolent Conflict in 2008 and the Institute for the Advanced Study of Nonviolent Conflict in 2009.

John Tye

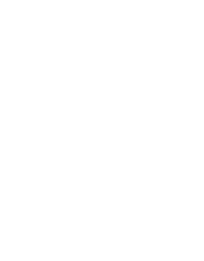

John Tye works to advance Internet freedom at the US Department of Human Rights and Labor. He worked to pass the first UN resolution on Internet freedom in July 2012, and helped to shape the Administrative Code of Enforcement bills in Congress. He covers sanctions and enforcement and human rights. Before he joined the State Department, he worked in the system at the US Department of Housing and Urban Development, where he worked with clients with housing issues in New Orleans after Hurricane Katrina. He also covered hate groups for the Southern Poverty Law Center.

Marianna Tzabiras

Marianna Tzabiras has been working as a researcher and program manager for several years, with an initial focus on Latin America. She has worked in the Asia & Pacific and Digital Rights Section as a researcher and Digital Rights Section Editor.

Reineke van Santen

Reineke van Santen holds a BA degree in Communication, International Development, Social Policy and Social Development from the University of Manchester. She has worked in international communication organizations of developing countries in internal and external communication. She has also conducted research into citizen media and journalism, working at Radio Zamaneh as program manager, exploring Citizen Journalism for Iran.

James Vasile

James Vasile is the Director of the New America Foundation, a recognized expert on free and open source software and Internet privacy barriers that hinder free communication between people. He is the founder of the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Foundation, a project devoted to building small, low-cost clinics and ensuring privacy and anonymity while they use the Internet. His Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Foundation was featured at the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Contact Summit 2011, as well as an Ashoka ChangeMaker. He holds a JD from Columbia Law School and a BA from Fordham College.

Paul Vixie

Dr. Paul Vixie is Chairman and Founder of Internet System Consortium (ISC), MAPS, PAIX and MIBH, as CTO of Abovenet/MFN, and other companies. He has served on the ARIN Board of Trustees from 2008 and 2009, and is a founding member of ICANN Root and ICANN Security and Stability Advisory Committee (SSAC). He has worked on DNS protocols and UNIX systems as a protocol designer and is the primary author and technical architect of BIND 8, and BIND 9, and the people now working on BIND 10. He has authored books on DNS and related topics, and of Sendmail: Theory and Practice from Keo University for work related to the Internet Domain Name System.

Ben Wagner

Ben Wagner is a Researcher at European University Institute, where he focuses on the globalised governance of freedom of expression or information. He is also a Senior Fellow at the European Council on Foreign Relations and Human Rights Foundation. In recent years, Wagner has served as an academic advisor at the German Ministry of Foreign Affairs, UNESCO, Hivos, the German Parliament, and the European Parliament.

Lynn Wallace

Lynn Wallace is a Senior Policy Officer with the Human Rights Division at the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada. She has worked on international policy related to a number of civil and political rights, including human rights defenders.

Greg Wiseman

Greg Wiseman is the Senior Analytics and Visualization Director at the University of Toronto Global Affairs, University of Toronto, where he helps wrangle data. He was in industry developing visual analysis software and has a Master's degree from the University of Waterloo.

Wendy Wong

Wendy Wong is currently Director of the Trudeau Center for Global Affairs, Assistant Professor in Political Science and Associate Director of the new Munk School Global Justice Institute at the University of Toronto. She earned her MA and PhD in Political Science from the University of California, Berkeley. Her research interests lie at the crossroads of International Relations and Political Science. Topics that interest her include: human rights, humanitarian law, indigenous politics, the rights of ethnic minorities, the role of international law in governance.

Sarah Wynn-Williams

Sarah Wynn-Williams works on global public policy for Fair Trade and government relations office at the New Zealand embassy in Ottawa. She earned a BA in political science, international relations and law from Victoria University.

Nora Young

Nora Young is the host and the creator of Spark, CBC Radio's technology and culture podcast. She was the founding host of the podcast where she often focused on new media and technology. She explores how new technology shapes the way we understand ourselves in her book, The Virtual Self, on the explosion of data about our lives, published by McClelland and Stewart in 2012. Nora blogs at nora3000.com.

.....

WE ARE GRATEFUL TO OUR GENEROUS SPON

.....

| | | | | | | | | |
